Reading Spine

Within this document there are three reading spines which we would like you to use to support the teaching and learning of reading and writing.

Author Study Spine

This spine contains a variety of high quality books which we would like you to read with your class on a daily basis (A minimum of three times a week)

Curriculum Spine

This spine has a variety of fiction, non fiction and poetry texts which have been sourced to compliment your writing genres. We recomend using these to support the teaching of writing units and whole class reading lessons. If you have other high-quality reading texts which you would like to use, please feel free to do so.

Reading For Pleasure Spine

We would like all children to develop a love of reading, and understand which books they enjoy and why that may be. There is a reading for pleasure spine designed for EYFS up to Year 6. Within each spine there are a large selection of high quality texts which aim to provide depth and breadth to the children's reading. Within the Reading for Pleasure Spine we have also created a selection of non-fiction texts which support the development of background knowledge, and provide additional reading for those children who enjoy non-fiction texts. The book recommendations may also be used to support the teaching of specific subject areas, whole class reading, or they can be accessed independently by the children.

Reading Spine Aims

'From the earliest ages, reading is much more than decoding. From the start, reading is also accessing and further acquiring language knowledge and domain knowledge. This means that instruction and practice in fluency of decoding need to be accompanied by instruction and practice in vocabulary and domain knowledge. If we want to raise later achievement ..., we need to combine early instruction in the procedures of literacy with early instruction in the content of literacy, specifically: vocabulary, conventions of language, and knowledge of the world.'

E. D. Hirsch, Jr. (2003)

The aim of this reading spine is to provide an extensive list of high quality texts which staff can use to apply to their own long term plans. These are books to use as class reads, as study books for writing, as whole class reading books, and as recommendations for reading corners. Extracts may be taken from texts to explore in greater detail.

We aim for by the time a child reaches year 6 and beyond, they have developed rich vocabulary and broader knowledge of the world, and as a result of this are able to access more complex books expected of them in secondary school.

It should be noted that book and text selection not only considers narratives and poems, but also recognises that a good balance of topic- appropriate non-fiction should be read to help further develop children's background knowledge of the subject they are studying.

High Quality Texts for All

The collection has been designed to introduce children to a growing range of texts. Whilst some children may not be able to read all of the books independently, an important function of the collection is to expose children so they can access a wider range of titles, authors and genres. For more experienced readers, the collection offers an increasingly challenging range of books.

When selecting the books we considered three areas: learning to read; access to high quality texts to enable access for all; and to promote reading for pleasure and experiential and language development through information texts.

Learning to Read

The early reading books are particularly supportive for children who are learning to read. These books help children behave like readers, These books may be

- Memorable texts that feature repetition and encourage predictions
- Texts within which rhythm and rhyme are important
- Texts that allow children to practice and apply their phonic knowledge
- Texts which positively reflect children's interests and backgrounds
- Books with supportive illustrations
- Books that draw attention to written language and the way books work
- Texts that are multi-layered- capable of being read at different levels
- Books that deal with important themes
- Books in which language is used in lively, inventive ways
- Books by skillful and experienced children's writers and illustrators
- Traditional and contemporary 'classics' of children's literature
- Stories from different cultural settings
- Texts that promote discussion and reflection
- Books with text and pictures that provide comprehensive information, which are also an enjoyable reading experience, broadening knowledge, vocabulary, and experience of the world.

The texts have been selected through recommendations: National Literacy Trust, The Book Trust, Books for Topics, Chesnut Books and more. Considerations have been made for areas of learning covered in the curriculum to ensure wider reading.

This is an ever-evolving document which will consider newly released books and other recommendation from the teaching profession.

Following the initial settling in periods, where the practitioners get to know the children, EYFS focuses on Phase 1 environmental sounds in phonics. In reception the teaching of phonological awareness becomes a key area of learning. Reception children take part in formal phonics lessons using 'Little Wandle Letters and Sounds'. Thus allowing the children to become successful, skillful and experienced readers as soon as possible.

Daily phonics lessons, 1:1 reading, group reading sessions (focusing on decoding, prosody and comprehension), keep up and catch up teaching also takes place to support all areas of reading.

Throughout the year, a key text will form the basis of a week's English lessons. The use of high quality texts will support the teaching of reading, writing, oracy, spoken language and child-initiated learning across the curriculum.
